DiscussIT Topic 6: Where is our country headed?

Discuss IT Topic: Over the last week, our country has had growing concerns on immigration bans, border safety, and executive orders that remind us of issues that have been plaguing our country for years. Now that Trump has been elected President, there has been people threatening to blow up the White House, human right protests, and a plethora of other sensitive subject matters that are very compelling to individual groups of people. Why have these issues come up now as we head into a time in which it seems no one is going to be happy with the outcomes? Will this create a split in this country and place citizens against one another when it comes to their views? In your opinion, what other topics are at the forefront of concern? Explain...

Response: Please make sure all grammar, spelling, indentation, and punctuation is correct.

To start off this country has not been able to unite itself as one. I believe that the ban of immigration is good to a point, this ban can allow us to find a way to secure our country. Trump has made choices that make sense and if people cannot agree with his decisions well too bad they are not able to change what has been done. Everyone has to open their eyes and see the big picture we have to find a way to make a compromise, anyway the issues that are being protested have no meaning to be protested, like women's march events, now I am not saying that women should not have rights, however the things they debate and what they say is just plain out stupid. This country needs to find a way to unite itself and make compromises for the betterment of our future.
